LOCATION AND CLIMATE

Dominican Republic shares the territory of Hispaniola with Haiti. It is located in the eastern part of the island and occupies two thirds of it. It is the second largest island of the Greater Antilles in the Caribbean, after Cuba. Its land area is 48,442 square kilometers, including its adjacent islands. Among its most famous outlying islands are Saona, Beata, Catalina and Alto Velo.

The country is in the Tropic of Cancer. in the archipelago of the Antilles and is bounded on the north by the Atlantic Ocean on the south by the Caribbean Sea, on the east by the Mona Channel, which separates it from the island of Puerto Rico and on the west by the Republic of Haiti. Its geographical coordinates are 17° 36'- 19° 58' North latitude and 68° 19'-72° 01' West latitude.

The Dominican terrain is very rugged. 50% of the territory is occupied by five mountain ranges including three major mountain ranges, among them, the Central Mountain Range, where the highest point in the Antilles, The Pico Duarte, is located 3.187 meters. The rest of the surface of the lands consists of four large valleys, the principal being The Cibao Valley.

Its hydrography is composed of various lakes, ponds and rivers, some of which are of great interest to tourists, such as Lago Enriquillo.

The climate of the Dominican Republic is tropical, with annual average temperatures between 25 ° and 31 ° C. The coldest season is during the months of December to February, and the warmest, between May and October.

POPULATION

In the Dominican Republic, according to the last population census conducted in the country in 2010, there live about 9.5 million people, of whom 4,739,038 are men and 4,706,243 are women. The Economic and Social Affairs' Department of the United Nations registers a total of 10,834,826 for 2017, which is an increase of 12% compared to 2010.

The ethnic composition of the Dominican population is 73% mixed race, mostly mulatto, 16% white, and 11% black. The multiracial population is primarily a mixture between Europeans and Africans, but there is also a Taino element in the population. In addition, there are major foreign communities as Haitians and North Americans, but there are other foreign groups such as Puerto Ricans, Italians, Colombians, Chinese, Venezuelans, and others.

RELIGION

The official religion is Roman Catholicism, but there is absolute freedom of religion. Other religions and beliefs coexist harmoniously including Judaism, Buddhism and Islam.

LANGUAGE

The official language of the Dominican Republic is Spanish. However, due to constant and diverse immigration, in the country reside Haitian communities (French and/or Patois speaking), English-speaking and Chinese communities, among others. The English language is usually spoken in business and it is used as a second language in some educational institutions.

CURRENCY

The national currency is the Dominican Peso, which is divided into one hundred equal parts called cents. However, the cent coin is no longer in circulation.

The US dollar is used in almost all business transactions of the Dominican Republic. Of course, other currencies are accepted such as the Canadian (CAD) dollar and the euro (EUR), especially in tourist areas.

The issuance of the national currency, as stipulated in the Constitution, is the responsibility of a single autonomous entity: the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic, owned by the Dominican State. The current rate ranges around US$ 1.00 = RD$ 48.1930 for purchases and US$ 1.00 = RD$ 48.2993 for sales.

CAPITAL CITY

The city of Santo Domingo is the capital. It is the oldest city in the New World and as such has among other firsts: the first street, the first cathedral, the first university and the first hospital in the Americas.

However, Santo Domingo is a cosmopolitan city with boutique hotels located in old cobbled streets, avant-garde international cuisine and modern hotels overlooking the Caribbean Sea between traditional houses.

In 2010, the city was selected as the American Capital of Culture.

As a result of this, seven (7) treasures of the material cultural heritage of Santo Domingo, were chosen: El Alcázar de Diego Colón, La Catedral Primada América, La Fortaleza Ozama, El Museo de las Casas Reales, El Jardín Botánico , El Malecón y el Palacio de Bellas Artes.

TIME

The standard time of the Dominican Republic is UTC / GMT-0400, which corresponds to the Atlantic Standard Time (AST).

EDUCATION

Basic education is compulsory in the Dominican Republic, for the age group of six to fourteen (6-14) years and lasts for eight (8) years, organized in two (2) cycles of four (4) years each.

GASTRONOMY

Typical Dominican cuisine is quite similar to that of other Latin American countries; and predominantly it is a mixture of Spanish, Taino and African cultures.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

The Dominican Republic has a good developed infrastructure, both for mobile telephony and fixed line telecommunications. Mobile telephony is used by 55% of the population (about 5.8 million) through the various phone companies in the country.

The cable internet and DSL are available in most parts of the country. Many Internet service providers offer 3G, 4G or LTE wireless Internet service.

The regulatory body for telecommunications in the country is the Dominican Telecommunications Institute (INDOTEL) (its acronym in Spanish). In September 2017, there were about 9,950,440 telephone usages. The Internet use decreased by 1.46% in compared to August of the same year.

ROAD INFRASTRUCTURE

- Highways: The Dominican Republic has five (5) major highways that link all the country's main cities. The main three (3) are the DR-1, in the northern region; DR-2 and DR-3, in the Southwest and East, respectively.

- Roads: The State has built regional and interregional highways to link tourist areas to urban centers and services areas.

- Ports: In the Dominican Republic There are twelve (12) ports scattered in the north, south and east of the country for economic and tourism business.

- Airports: The country has fourteen (14) international airports located all over the country.

TOURISM

The Dominican Republic has many tourist attractions that are visited by millions of tourists every year, from the United States, Canada, Europe, and Latin America.

GOVERNMENT POLICY

According to the World Bank the economic growth of the Dominican Republic has been one of the strongest in Latin American & Caribbean (LAC) in the last twenty-five (25) years. During the first quarter of 2017, the economy expanded by 5.2%, after an average annual growth of 7.1% between 2014 and 2016. This strong growth has occurred within a framework of a clear macroeconomic equilibrium and responsibility economic and policies.

The Dominican Republic has experienced economic development in recent years, and today has a highly diversified, vibrant and modern economy. It offers an extraordinary opportunity for profitable and successful businesses, including a solid judicial system, political, social and economic stability. It also has a highly productive and highly competitive infrastructure, attractive government incentives and excellent human resources.

The Dominican Republic is one of the six (6) countries in the world with free trade agreements and preferential market entry of the United States (DR-CAFTA) and the European Union (EPA) with very flexible rules of origin. It has preferential access to more than 876 million consumers worldwide.

Our country has laws that offer attractive incentives for foreign investment in the country, in the framework of the Foreign Investment Law, No. 16-95, which provides equal treatment to foreign and Dominican investors, free repatriation of capital and transfer of technology considered to be an investment.

The Export and Investments Center of the Dominican Republic (CEI-RD) is the official agency responsible for the promotion of international trade and foreign direct investment (FDI). All foreign investments must be registered at CEI-RD. Foreign investors must notify the CEI-RD within 180 days of placing an investment in the country, and will then automatically obtain a Certificate of Foreign Investment Registration.

Some laws that offer attractive incentives are: Law No. 57-07: Incentives for renewable energy and special regime establishes the basic regulatory framework, to be applied throughout the nation, to encourage and regulate development of and investment in projects that develop renewable sources of energy and seek to benefit from such incentives; Law No. 8-90: Development of free trade zone export incentives Grants free zone companies a 100% exemption of ITBIS (IVA) and others, for a 15-year period; Law No. 171-07: Retirees and annuitants of foreign sources Establishes certain benefits and exemptions for foreign retirees and self-supporting foreigners who wish to reside permanently in the DR, provided that they meet the requirements and conditions set by this law

The Dominican Republic has become a regional center for attracting Foreign Direct Investment (FDI), which amounted to US $ 17.6 billion in the last nine years.

The UN Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC) said that the Dominican Republic received 49 percent of all Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the Caribbean region during 2016.

INVESTMENT MARKET:

Dominican Republic offers to investors:

- Several integration agreements with large markets that facilitate international trade.
- Constant economic growth based on exports, investment and services.
- Lower risk, compared with other countries in the region, based on the economic growth.
- Investment opportunities in various sectors of the national economy.

LEGAL ENVIRONMENT:

The legal framework for foreign investment in the Dominican Republic experienced a major change with the enactment of Law 16-95 on Foreign Investment, in November 20, 1995, and its implementing regulations contained in Presidential Decree 380-96, then modified by Presidential Decree 163-97. The addition of this new legislation has allowed the Dominican Republic to have a legal framework that offers greater benefits and security to the foreign investor.

INVESTMENT SECTORS

Dominican Republic offers investment opportunities at all levels: from a beach bar to a five-star hotel, from a small pasta factory to a textile company, from a garage to a nickel mine.

Policies promote the attraction of foreign investment through a legal framework that does not discriminate against foreign or national investors. There are no restrictions on foreign ownership or mergers, acquisitions or joint ventures.

The main sectors of investment are:

- Mining:
International mining publications describe the Dominican Republic as follows: "Premier Mining Destination-Dominican Republic". The Dominican Republic is host to world-class gold and base metal mines and deposits. In 2016 the biggest exports were of Gold, which represented 18.8% of the total exports of the Dominican Republic

- Free Trade Zones:
The Dominican Republic has about sixty-eight (68) industrial parks and about six hundred and forty-five (645) companies which contribute significantly to the national economy providing one hundred and sixty thousand employment posts.

- Tourism
According to the Ministry of Tourism of the Dominican Republic, 6,200,000 non-resident visitors traveled to the country in 2017. In 2016, most of the flights landed at the Punta Cana airport, that is, 52.74% of all air traffic; Santo Domingo was the second destination, with 27.57%, followed by Santiago, with 10.26%; Puerto Plata, with 6.69%; La Romana, with 1.59% and Samaná with 0.97%. The country has around 737 hotels and 75,030 rooms.

- Other strategic investment sectors
In addition to the above mentioned sectors, the following are highlighted as strategic sectors for investment call centers, shoe industry, renewable energy, film and agricultural production. Dominican Republic offers zero tax rates to investors in agricultural production.

PRICES

According to statistics of the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic, during the past five years, the country has enjoyed a steady growth of its Gross Domestic Product (GDP) combined with price index (CPI) stable.

COMMERCIAL AGREEMENTS

The Dominican Republic benefits from preferential programmes granted by several countries, among which are the United States, Canada and the European Union. These programmes are unilateral, i.e. granting tariff preferences for Dominican products without requiring the same treatment to products from these countries when entering Dominican territory.

The following are the trade and tariff programmes from which the Dominican Republic benefits:

- Generalized System of Preferences (GSP):

The advantage of these preferential trading schemes is that products are granted free entry without quantitative or other barriers.

- Free Trade Agreements:

The Dominican Republic benefits from free trade agreements it has signed with the countries of Caribbean Community, Central America, Panama, the United States and the European Union.

- Free Trade Agreements signed by Dominican Republic :

a) Free Trade Agreement between Dominican Republic and Caribbean Community (ALCRD CARICOM).

b) Free Trade Agreement between Dominican Republic and Central America (ALC RD - Centro America).

c) Partial Agreement between Dominican Republic and Panamá (AAP RD - Panamá).

d) Free Trade Agreement between the US, Central America and the Dominican Republic (DR-CAFTA).

e) Economic Partnership Agreement between the countries of the European Union and the countries of Cariforum (EPA)

- (DR-CAFTA):

The Dominican Republic has signed the Central American Free Trade Agreement (DR-CAFTA). It is a free trade agreement whose primary aim is to create growth and diversification of trade in the region; to eliminate trade barriers and to improve the movement of goods and services to create an environment of fair competition in the free trade area, to expand investment opportunities and to enforce intellectual property rights.

regulatory agencies

FINANCIAL SYSTEM

The Dominican financial system is administered by the Monetary and Finance Board, which is made up of the Central Bank of the Dominican Republic (CBDR) and the Superintendence of Banks.

It is the function of the Monetary Board to determine the monetary, exchange and financial policies of the nation. The central bank's function is to execute the monetary, exchange and financial policies determined by the Monetary Board.

The Superintendence of Banks has the responsibility for carrying out, with full functional autonomy, the supervision of financial intermediaries.

The Dominican financial system traces its origins to 1947 with the enactment of a package of monetary and banking laws.

Currently, the Dominican financial system is composed of ten (10) Savings and Loans Associations, one (1) State Bank, Twelve (12) Credit Corporations, eight-teen (18) Savings and Loan Banks, and eight-teen (18) Commercial Banks.

International participation is represented by branches of Bank of Nova Scotia (Canada) and Citibank (United States), in addition to the Savings and Credit Promérica Banks (Panama) and Bancamérica, Banesco and Activo (Venezuela).

The share of Dominican companies in the Financial System is 93% , indicating that the financial sector is clearly in Dominican hands.

STOCK EXCHANGE OF THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Law 35-53 of 1953 established the National Stock Exchange and the National Securities Commission. The presence of a developed and dynamic capital market is one of the main manifestations of a growing economy, as it reveals the presence of an active pathway for channeling savings into investment in productive areas.

During the past five years Dominican Republic has been taking firm steps towards the consolidation of a market with sufficient vitality and independence. Every day the value of quoted securities increases and are validated in the operations market with more innovative instruments.

The supervisory structure of the Stock Exchange of the Dominican Republic is composed of the Securities Market and the National Securities Council.

The Superintendence of Securities is responsible for the dissemination of information concerning the market, which leads to a public register of issued securities, issuers and all market participants.

The National Securities Council is a collegiate organ, to which can be appealed administrative decisions of the Securities Superintendence. It acts as a superior organ.

FOREIGN CURRENCY EXCHANGE AGENTS

The country had forty-five (45) Exchange Agents as at December 2017.

FOREIGN CURRENCY EXCHANGE CONTROL

Market operations to buy, sell and exchange currency are regulated by the Superintendence of Banks of the Dominican Republic, which is responsible for supervising and monitoring foreign exchange operations and ensuring that operations are framed within the principles of convertibility and transferability, which allow greater efficiency and competition in the exchange market, consistent with a free-floating exchange rate regime.

There are no restrictions to the free convertibility and exchange of foreign currencies.

Laws and Dominican regulations on exchange transactions in foreign currency require that any transaction that exceeds the amount of US$15,000.00 (fifteen thousand USD) for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency must be reported to the Financial Analysis Unit (UAF) by the agent or institution that handles the transaction.

labor law

Labor relations in the Dominican Republic are governed by Law No. 16-92 of May 29, 1992, commonly known as the Labor Code of the Dominican Republic, as amended, as well as its implementing regulations No. 258-93. The Ministry of Labor is the body responsible for implementing labor standards.

- Wages:

A branch is created upon its registration with the Chamber of Commerce, whereas a permanent establishment (PE) is a fixed place where the business of the enterprise is wholly or partly conducted, such as: management offices; branches; a mine, oil or gas well, quarry or other location for extraction of natural resources; assembly projects, including monitoring the activities thereof; construction of or sales management of machinery or equipment when the cost exceeds 10% of the purchase price of such goods; business consulting services provided in excess of six months within a fiscal year; offices for staff or free-lance representatives or agents, when the latter work exclusively or almost exclusively on behalf of the company. If a PE develops, the foreign company is subject to registration with the Chamber of Commerce and tax authorities. Both the branch and/or PE are considered an extension of the parent company. A PE has the same characteristics as a branch for tax and legal purposes.

Registration procedure Submit to the Chamber of Commerce the following documentation:

- The Articles of Incorporation;
- An Updated Certificate of Incorporation of the parent company;
- A power of attorney issued by the company designating a representative in the DR, including authorization for registering the branch and establishing the domicile in the DR.
- Copies of the ID's or passports of the main shareholders and members of the board of directors. - (Note: These documents need to be legal IDs in the country of origin and translated into Spanish by an official translator in the DR.)
- Obtain Mercantile Registration Certificate at the Chamber of Commerce.
- Obtain Tax Identification from tax authorities by submitting the RC-02 Form.

taxation regime

GENERAL FRAMEWORK

The System of taxation of Dominican Republic is organized according to the Tax Code, adopted by Law No. 11-92, dated May 16, 1992.

The administration of internal taxes and the application of rules and tax laws is the responsibility of the Directorate General of Internal Taxes (DGII, by its acronym in Spanish), an institution with legal personality, administrative, technical, budgetary and functional autonomy, and its own assets. The DGII with the Directorate General of Customs (DGA) forms the Tax Administration, under the guidance and supervision of the Ministry of Finance.

FISCAL YEAR

The Tax Code of Dominican Republic establishes four (4) dates of annual fiscal closing for companies or corporate entities, which concluded on December 31, September 30, June 30 and March 30.

CORPORATION TAX AND LEGAL ENTITIES

• Income Tax:

Companies domiciled in the country will pay 27% on their net taxable income each year (fiscal year ended on 31 December 2017).

• Tax on assets:

This tax is levied at 1% of the assets of Companies after applying deductions for depreciation, amortization, and the tax payment in advances.

• Taxes on Real Estate:

This tax is applied on those buildings for housing, commercial and industrial activities, belonging to natural or physical persons, including land, whose value exceeds DOP7,138,384.80. The percentage of this tax is 1% of the value of real estate. They are adjusted annually for inflation.

• Capital Gain Tax:

Capital gains received by the taxpayer are subject to tax on income of 27%. The Dominican Tax Code defines capital gain as the difference between the sale price of a capital asset and its acquisition price or production cost adjusted for inflation. In the case of assets subject to depreciation, the rate of inflation is applied to the residual value adjusted for inflation

• Dividends:

Whoever pays or credits into account dividends or otherwise distributed profits of Dominican source to individuals, Companies or entities, resident or non-resident must withhold and pay to the tax authorities, as the sole definitive payment, ten percent (10%) of that amount.

• Payments abroad in general:

Whoever pays or credits into account taxable income from Dominican sources to non-residents or persons domiciled in the country, other than interest paid or credited into the accounts foreign financial institutions, or dividends, shall withhold and pay to the Administration, as a sole and final payment of tax, 27% of such income.

• Tax on the Transfer of Industrialized Goods and Services (ITBIS, by its acronym in Spanish).

This tax is levied on the transfer and import of industrialized goods, as well as the provision and location of services. The tax rate is 18% on the price of the taxable transfer or service.

• Tax on inheritances and donations

The rate payable for successions is 3% calculated on the value of the sum total of the inheritance, after making the appropriate deductions. Donations are subject to the payment of 27% of the value of donated goods.

- Tax on transfer of Real Estate:

Real estate transfers are subject to a flat tax of 3% of the greater of the value in the terms of the contract of sale or exchange, and the value assigned by the Directorate General of Internal Revenue (DGII).

- Excise Tax:

This taxes transfers of some domestic goods at the manufacturing level, and the import and the rendering of services. This tax is levied at 10% on communications, specific amounts per liter of absolute alcohol and specific amounts for cigarette packs. Additionally, this tax is levied at 16% general insurance, for payments by check 0.15%.

- Tax on bank transfers and checks:

This tax is levied on payments carried out through bank transfers and checks. The tax authorities collect RD$1.50 for each RD$1,000.00 paid using these channels.

- Tax on the Incorporation of Companies:

The incorporation of limited liabilities companies is subject to the payment of a tax of one percent of the corporate, with a minimum tax of DOP$1,000.

- Personal Income Tax rates:

Individuals pay tax on income in excess of DOP416,220 Dominican Pesos. The personal Income Tax rate in Dominican Republic stands at 25 percent. Taxable income brackets are adjusted annually for inflation. Only educational expenses can be deducted for income tax purposes.

- Double Taxation Treaties:

The Dominican Republic has signed and ratified two double taxation treaties: with Canada, in 1977, and with Spain, in March 2014. The treaty with Canada only covers income taxes. The new treaty with Spain deals with income and capital gains taxes only.

- Transfer Pricing Rules:

The Dominican Republic has established transfer pricing rules modeled on guidelines issued by the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). These rules will apply when a resident company or individual enters into a commercial or financial operation with (a) a related company, or (b) companies or individuals that are domiciled in States or Territories with preferential tax systems (low or zero taxation) or blacklisted jurisdictions, regardless of whether they are related or not. From the obligations perspective, an information return is required to be filed no later than 60 days after filing of the corporate tax return.

- Foreign Accounts Tax Compliance Act (FATCA):

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of the United States and Dominican Republic's Directorate General of Internal Taxes (DGII) have begun a process to exchange bilateral financial and tax information as part of the Foreign Accounts Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) of 2010. FATCA requires that financial institutions in other countries make available information about the accounts of US citizens, residents, companies, estates and trusts, to tax authorities in the United States to verify their tax compliance.

The Dominican Republic and the United States have reached an intergovernmental agreement (IGA) in substance by which Dominican financial institutions will report all FATCA-related information to DGII, which will then report it to the IRS. The IGA adopted is reciprocal, meaning that the United States will provide information about Dominican residents to the DGII in exchange for the information received.
